Contents

125 Third Nerve Palsy as a Presenting Sign of Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome
Michael V. Antworth and Roy W. Beck

129 Persistent Accommodative Spasm Nine Years After Head Trauma
Brian J. Bohlmann and Thomas D. France

132 Editorial Comment: Accommodative Spasm Versus Spasm of the Near Reflex
J. Lawton Smith

135 Cavernous Sinus Syndrome as the Initial Manifestation of Multiple Myeloma
Sheridan Lam, Curtis E. Margo, Roy Beck, Thomas J. Pusateri, and Stephen Pascucci

139 Pituitary Apoplexy Presenting With Light—Near Dissociation of the Pupils
Bruce D. Nichols and Kenneth G. Romanchuk

144 Editorial Comment: Near Reaction of the Pupils
H. Stanley Thompson

145 Lid Retraction in Myasthenia Gravis
Tulay Kansu and Nese Subutay

149 Editorial Comment: Lid Position in Neuro-ophthalmology
J. Lawton Smith

151 Transient Postictal Cortical Blindness
Stephanie A. Skolik, Thomas R. Mizen, and Ronald M. Burde

155 Recurrent Scintillating Scotoma and Homonymous Hemianopia Due to Metastatic Melanoma
Joel M. Weinstein, Richard E. Appen, Lanning Houston, and Gabriele ZuRhein

(continued on next page)
Contents (continued)

161 Magnetic Resonance Imaging and the "One-and-a-Half" Syndrome: A Case Report
M. Hommel, J. M. Gato, P. Pollack, F. Borgel, A. G. Reeves, G. Crouzet, J. F. Lebas, and J. Perret

165 Traumatic Internuclear Ophthalmoplegia
James R. Keane

167 Unilateral Syphilitic Optic Perineuritis Presenting as the Big Blind Spot Syndrome
John McBurney and Michael L. Rosenberg

170 Linear Nevus Sebaceous Syndrome: A Review
Israel Alfonso, Cleve Howard, Pedro F. Lopez, Jose A. Palomino, and Carmen E. Gonzalez

178 Literature Abstracts

180 Letters to the Editor

183 Announcements